PROBABLE STARTERS FOR THE METROPOLITAN HANDICAP.

Morris Park Opens Next Thursday for an Era of "Real Racing"-Starting Problem Not Settled Yet-Kentucky Derby te Be Run To-day at Louisville

Next Thursday the Metropolitan Handicap, $10,000 added, one mile, will be run at picturesque Morris Park, the headquarters of the Jockey Club. This will be the magnetic feature of the opening day at West Chester when, according to turi tradition, "real racing" is scheduled to begin. The lateness of spring has worked to a disadvantage at Aqueduct and Jamaica, in that the crowds, in most instances, at those popular racecourses have been confined to the reguler patrons; but with warm weather, bright skies and a chance to breathe the fine air of the country, the great army of metropolitan racegors will turn out as of yore. Morris Park with its magnificent grand stand, club house and paddock, to say nothing of its soft, green lawns and broad yellow tracks, has always been the most popular of New York tracks. But if present plans do not year to make room for the new $3,000,000 selmont Park, now under course of construction on the Hempstead Plains, Long letand. So this may be the last running of the Metropolitan Handicap in West Chester, although the race will be undoubtedly the opening feature at Belmont Park.

It was in 1880 that this race was maugurated as old Jerome Park under the name of the Great Metropolitan Stakes. E. V. Snede-ker's Aureolus was the winner. With the opening of Morris Park, the Metropolitan began to increase in popularity until it is now regarded as one of the most important and richest stakes of the year. Last year the value of the race was $11,080, which was won by the late W. C. Whitney's Gunfire. This year it is predicted that the Metropolitan will be worth nearly $19,000 with between fifteen and twenty starters. E. R. Thomas's 800,000 Hermis will carry top weight, 126 pounds, if his owner decides to send him to the post. E. E. Smathers declared McChesney, the original top weight, out some time ago, because he could not get "big Mac ready in time. Hermis, according to Mr Thomas, will start if the weather remains warm and the track is good. But even so, turfmen do not expect to see the son of Hermence leave the paddock. H. B. Duryen's colors will, in all probability, be carried by Irish Lad, the famous Candlemas colt who won the Brooklyn Handicap last senson as a three-year-old. If Hermis does not go, Irish Lad will pick up 122 pounds, top weight, and will be ridden by Burns.

W. B. Leeds's Major Daingerfield and

Hurstbourne are both well advanced as to condition, and the former is sure to face the barrier, as he has already had a race at Jamaica, the Excelsior Handicap, in which with 120 pounds, he made a splendid showing. Mamie Worth, the crack sprinter, will go, and so will Eugenia Burch, both of whom have already been to the races. Rosetint, with 105 pounds, looks good, also Red Knight, and Rostand with light imposts, too. Rostand picks up a four pound penalty for winning the Excelsior Handicap, which makes his burden 106 pounds, easy for him to handle

Orthodox, Damon and Lord Badge are in with feathers. Damon has already been picked to win the race, although Newton Bennington says that his filly Beldame, who won the Carter Handicap at Aqueduct, cannot be beaten in the Metropolitan if she has fair racing luck. Mr. Bennington goes even further and insists that Beldame is the best three-year-old in training to-day, not excepting Highball and Hamburg Belle. High-ball will be ridden in the Metropolitan by Fuller. He was short of work in his race at Jamaica, but the defeat did him a world of Ostrich, with 88 pounds, may be a factor, if his showing in the Kings County Handicap on Saturday amounts to anything the probable starters and their weights:

Starter Fitzgerald will resume work with the barrier at Morris Park. It is understood that the Jockey Club stewards will insist upon a further trial of the so-called "walk up" system at West Chester, in spite of the fact that there is a public demand for the flatfooted style of starting, which gave perfact that there is a public demand for the flatfooted style of starting, which gave perfect satisfaction from the moment the recall and red flags were abolished Mr. Fitzgerald's work at Aqueduct with the "walk ap" system did not give satisfaction, although the many it at the record trial At Lambie and Roilly, were also out. ap" system did not give satisfaction, although he gave it a thorough trial. At Jamaica last week, Mars Caesidy showed no improve-ment over the starting of Mr. Fitzgerald, while the racegoing public continued to clamor for a change. It is problematical why the Jockey Club stewards continue to why the Jockey Club stewards continue to experiment with such an important branch of the turf. In the days of the red flag, used by Caldwell, Flynn, Fitzgerald, Cassidy and other well known starters, there were long, wearisome delays, sometimes the horses spending 15, 30, 45 and even 60 minutes at the post, the top weights having absolutely no chance under the circumstances. Even though there was a marked improvement under the Fitzgerald régime at the metropolitan tracks, the Jockey Club wisely abolished the flags and instituted the new recent time. His second freshman crew rowed so poorly yesterday that it will not be to be the first to retire. The freshman eight stroked by Sumner proved to be the fastest of the first year squads. The horses were compelled to line up within a yard or so of the barrier, and when all were straight, the gate was sprung with the ac-companying command: "Come on!" Of course, there were bound to be poor starts now and then, but the despatch with which the fields were sent away and the general fairness of

The Kentucky Derby, one mile and a quarter, will be run at Louisville this afternoon. The probable starters are S. S. Brown's Pro-ceeds, Mrs. C. E. Durnell's Elwood, John Fay's Ed Tierney, William Gerst's Brancas, Fay's Ed Tierney, William Gersu's Brancas, W. F. Schulte's Batts and Talbot Bros. Silverwings. Proceeds, a fine colt by Pirate of Penzance—Fertile, will probably rule favorite.

Jockey Hildebrand continues to make new friends by his skillful horsemanship. Those who have watched this young man carefully are sure that he will be the star of all the jockeys in the East before the end of the season, eclipsing even such cracks as Redfern and Fuller. Hildebrand's engagements are made by Joe Yeager, the "Boy Plunger," who has the jockey under con-

James Blute and S. S. Bender shipped their horses from Jamaica to Chicago yester-day. Blute has a couple of useful colts in Toscan and Sais.

There are more competent jockeys riding on the local tracks just now than for some time past. Last year there was a dearth of first class riding material, but so many new-comers have made good that the veteran jockeys have been compelled to look to their

MILITARY SHOW OPENS TO-NIGHT

Col. Dyer Talks Plainly at Lunebee Soldiers Dissatisfied With New Lids. Following the plan of the Horse Show Association and the kennel clubs, the Mili-tary Athletic League, which runs the military tourney at Madison Square Garden this week, gave a luncheon in the restaurant at the Garden yesterday afternoon. The officers of the league and other notables in military circles were there. There was only one speech, and that was by Col. George R. Dyer, president of the Military Athletic League. After rapping on the back of a wine glass for order, he said:

"Gentlemen I am ordered by my superior officers to say something to you on the coming show. I say to you it is the duty of every connected with this league to do all in his power personally to make this show a success, not by asking for free tickets but by bringing his friends to the show and mak-ing them pay. The application for free tickets is something enormous. Why I represent a regiment composed of nearly represent a regiment composed of nearly 1,000 men, and already I have applications for more than 2,000 tickets. Then it is the duty of every man to help a little, and do his part, and not leave all the work to a couple of men. It is all right for a man to be a member of this league to sit in his office and say, on well there are other people who will take care of the league's welfare; what need I care. But it is all wrong that a couple of men like Capt. Dixon and Major Turph should work their lives away in the interests of the league for nothing. All they get is their pictures in the programmes, which, at that, creates a lot of fealousy. Of course, they get their pictures in the newspapers, but that is nothing for any man can get his picture in the newspapers for $5.

The Colonel sat down and a litter and a flutter, for the information that for $5 a man could have his photograph published was news to those present. Col. Dyer afterward explained his real meaning, and said that he was told once by a Broadway publication that it would cost him $5 to have his photograph published.

Among those present were Gen. George Moore Smith, Capt. Jacob W. Miller, Com-1,000 men, and already I have applications

Four troops of the Fifteenth Cavalry from Fort Myer arrived at the Garden in the afternoon. They were dressed in brown uniforms and the newest style of military cap. It is made of the same brown cloth and in share is a Dundreary with the tail sawed off and built after the plan of the Canadian militia Uncle Sam's boys don't like this innovation, for they say it offers no shade for the eyes and is too warm for the scalp. "Why," said one blond headed fellow, "if we are forced to wear those lids for any length of time, we'll all be baldheaded and blind."

The athletic part of the programme will begin each night at 7:15 o'clock. The Mayor will review the troops to-night.

ROWING.

Local Crews Put In a Hard Day's Training on the Harlem.

The Harlem River oarsmen had a gala time on the water yesterday and every man who had any pretensions at all to racing took a spin. It was the biggest crowd of the year, the cause being of course the warm sun and fine weather, and all day long all sorts of crews tore the Speedway course into a bolling

With their usual promptness the junior eight of the Dauntless Rowing Club were the first up the stream. They made two trips, one in the morning and the other in the afternoon. Eddie Anderson coached, and from the stroke the men sat Corbett, Harnett, Rockedge, Wooley, Hogan, Hillebrand, Scott and Post. In all, the crew rowed about ten miles. The brotners Stettig put in some handy licks in a double shell and Instone had a good long pull in a single.

Not to be outdone in the line of industry by the Dauntless, the Unions' junior eight put in a hard day's work. Those who occupled the seats were Hughes, Kean, Prening, Judson, McCutcheon, Lyons, Walsh and Ward, and they showed improvement in handling the sweeps. Scanlon and Francis in a double made a lively trip as far as the yacht works and back.

The Harlem Rowing Club members are in real earnest and an eight and a few other crews performed some practice work. The junior eight, Klef, Meyer, Bers, Fulton, Bradley, Demarest, Evans and Ferris, had the beaefft of Jack Nagle's tuition for a couple of hours and bent to each stroke with a will laster on Joe Maher and Jack Nagle will tackle some preparatory work in the pair With their usual promptness the junior Fuessel seems to have a hard time getting into proper condition, but some experts are of the opinion that a rest would do the sculler a lot of good. Kent and Murphy are rounding into a promising double.

The Mets, although hampered by the loss of their house, are consistent in their attention to training. The red and black jerseys were to be seen among the crowd yesterday, and the intermediate eight, Eller Jewett, Emerson, Magnolia, Corbett, Hoden, Hanly and Chickerio, revelled in a long strong pull on the Speedway water. The Mets rowed from the Wyanoke house and the Wyanokes themselves were represented by a junior in Weston, Hitchman, Keat Whitford, Houtsker, Lyons, Curtis and Fisher.

The junior eight of the Atalantas, Smith Fast, C. Bamman, T. Bamman, Koch, Miller Grigman and Massey, rowed as far as Morris Heights landing and came home at a dashing city.

Cornell Crews in Poor Form.

ITHACA, N. Y.. May 1.—The Cornell crews had their first "scrap" of the year yesterday afternoon, and the result was a big surprise.

IN THE BASEBALL WORLD.

PERVERSE LUCK AS TO WEATHER RETARDS GRIFFITH'S MEN.

Americans Have Not Struck Their Batting Galt-McGraw's Nationals Expected to Hold Their Own in the West-Well Fortified in Morale and Material.

The New York Nationals begin a month's trip away from home to-day, and simultaneously Griffith's Americans return home. They play four games with the Washingtons, then go to Boston for four days, then return for a long stretch on the home grounds. By some peculiar freak of the schedules Greater New York is entirely without baseball on May 6, 7, 9 and 10. Neither the New York Americans, New York Nationals nor the Brooklyns are at home on those dates change in the adverse luck that has been sticking by them since the season opened. This does not refer to anything that has happened in games. Luck cuts little figure on the field. Griffith himself takes little stock in that sort of hard luck. But when a team encounters a lot of bad weather, such as delays it in striking the real form and also has players incapacitated, it is in genuine hard luck. The New York Americans have had no players burt, but they have been retarded a good deal on account of the weather. The team has not made a poor showing, all things considered. It is a good team, and needs no apology; but facts are facts, and one of them is that the perverse weather has done more to delay the development of the New Yorks than any other major league team. Rain pre-vented all but two games last week, and there were the cold winds on the home ground blew quite as cold against visiting teams as against the New Yorks, but the New Yorks felt them daily, while the visitors did not. As to what has been done in the games played, the New Yorks have not been hitting well. They have met two strong teams and one weak one and have won only one well. They have met two strong teams and one weak one and have won only one game from each of the two strong teams. The pitching and the fielding have been satisfactory, but not the run getting. There have not been enough hits, particularly timely hits, and what hits have been made have not been well bunched. Also a weakness in evidence last year has again been noticed—a lack of those long, extra base drives which oome in handy often in cleaning up the bases and which the Bostons, Philadelphias and Clevelands make many of. Likewise there has not been much doing on the bases—not enough action in that department.

It is conceded in the National League that, as between the two sections, the Western is the stronger—that Pittsburg. Chicago, St. Louis and Cincinnati make a stronger whole than New York, Brooklyn, Boston and Philadelphia. Any of the Western four might be stronger than any of the last named Eastern three, but that would not be saying much. Anyway, the New Yorks stand on their own merits, and whether they have been up against easy teams, they have been playing first class ball, irrespective of the work of their opponents; and their partisans have no reason to regard the coming Western trip other than with confidence.

If the New Yorks play the game in the West the way they have been doing at home, they will hold their own out there. Of course, it is to be expected that the proportion of defents will be larger than it has been thus far. For one thing the National League is stronger in playing strength than it was a year ago; but McGraw has strengthened as much, and is as well equipped with the "goods" as any of his adversaries. He has demonstrated that he can hold a team together and keep its spirit properly keyed up, and there is not a baseball manager in the business to-day who can get as much out of his material as McGraw has areas and on the same hold a team to-

The first Eastern League game played on Sunday in Hudson county was witnessed at Rayonne yesterday by 6,000 persons. The Jersey City team defeated Rochester by hard hitting in the seventh inning. After Brown's out, klester singled and stole second and tallied the winning run on Halligan's three-bagger into the crowd in right field, Halligan scoring on an error of the catcher. The fielding feature was a difficult catch by Flournoy Ia left field. The score: on a Higher Pinnacie Than Ever -Placed on Scratch and Concedes Three to Douglas and Byers-The last Contains 1.256 Players-Notes.

HANDICAP RATINGS FOR THE SEASON'S TOURNAMENTS.

Out this morning, there will be ample time to study the general handicap list of the Metropolitan Golf Association before the championship tournament at Garden City, May 25 to 28, where the ratings will be accepted unchanged in the thirty-six-hole handicap. In the other open tournaments of the season the ratings are intended as a suggestion to the club committees, and as a classification the club committees, and as a classification the list is very complete. The committee, Lionel H. Graham, F. W. Menzies and Louis P. Bayard, Jr., have assigned marks to 1,256 players as against 1,000 in 1903 and 1,013 in 1902. Three of the fifty M. G. A. clubs, the Century Country, Larchmont Yacht and Meadow Brook Hunt, did not send in club lists. It is the second list that has been comlists. It is the second list that has been com-piled on the par score basis of each course. The list has been brought out in advance of each M. G. A. championship since 1899.

Travis is alone at scratch, as he has been for the last three years, but the general advance in form shown by the increased num-ber of players listed makes Travis's position a more difficult one to defend than it has ever been before. The list is inclusive of the players to the seventeen stroke mark, all others whose names have been sent in being entitled to claim a rating of 18. There are 447 listed from scratch to 12, against 470 last year, an indication of a more lenient rating except in these strongest classes.

Reviewed on the play at Lakewood in the opening tournament of the M. G. A., a few inconsistencies may be noted, a condition that will always exist while the list is based on the fall records. To counteract this state of affairs the handicap committee has asked for permission to bring out its list at the close instead of the start of the season, so that a modified list may be brought out in the spring which will show the improvement of the players who have been at the resorts all winter while the bulk of the others have not been golfing at all. Action will be taken on this petition as soon as President Russell of the M. J. A. returns from Europe. Douglas receives three strokes from Travis this year, instead of two, and Byers from 4 is bracketed with the former amateur champion. Reinhart, the intercollegiate champion, who was at 5, is now alone at 4 while Hollins, Jr., and Scely, who were at 4 last year, are now in the 5 class. In the 5 class, as they were last year, are Louis N. James, Allan N. Kennaday, Louis Livingston and C. B. Macdonald, and new acces-sions to this rating are Max Behr, George T. Brokaw and L. R. Conklin. A sharp eye has been kept on all of the college boys. There are eighty-nine rated at eight, the list including many old-timers and much promising young material. It is evident that this classification will provoke more discussion than any of the other classes. The list of those at twelve and under follows:
